TOKYO (AP) — Fighting broke out between Soviet and Chinese troops today on the frontier of Sinkiang Province, home of Peking's nuclear arsenal and missile-testing grounds. Red China charged that several hundred Soviet troops under cover of two helicopters invaded Sinkiang and there were many Chinese casualties.

The Soviet government a little later charged that Chinese troops penetrated Russian territory and there were casualties. The nationality of these was not stated.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported that the Chinese were thrown back into their own territory and two of their officers were detained. It said the clash occurred near Semipalatinsk in Kazakhstan across from Sinkiang.

Peking Radio, in a Chinese-language broadcast monitored in Tokyo, said Communist China's Foreign Ministry has denounced the "intrusion" and lodged a protest note with the Soviet Embassy in Peking.

The broadcast said the Soviet intrusion took place near Yumin along the western sector of Sinkiang Province bordering the Soviet Union.

The note indicated the Soviet troops were still there since it demanded their immediate withdrawal or face the consequences from the action.

Sinkiang Province, in the northwest corner of China, long has been a trouble spot. The Russians have accused the Chinese of initiating border incidents there. The Red Chinese have leveled similar charges and accused the Russians of kidnapping residents in the province.

Sinkiang has long been of interest to the Russians. They practically took over the province to exploit its vast uranium resources early in the days of Communist rule in China but later relinquished exploitation rights there.

Sinkiang is the site of Lop Nor, the Chinese nuclear testing ground and missile center.

debate but said he plans to offer it again after the three-week vacation which Congress starts today.

The U.S. commitment to Thailand, especially a secret agreement between the two countries, was the subject of interest all day, starting with a morning session of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, stormed out of the committee after the Pentagon refused to produce copies of the 1964 agreement.

"Rumor has it," Church told the Senate later, "that the plans not only contemplate the use of American troops, but an arrangement that would actually place them under Thai command."

But, according to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., one Pentagon witness made it clear that before anything was done under the agreement, it should be taken up with the Congress.

Earlier, the Senate voted 49-14 to cut $15.6 million military research projects.

Thinking of all the places I've traveled and never visited, all the books I've meant to read and never read... the stories I've never written, the gardens I have left unmade, the friends I've never really talked to, the strange foods untried, the strange seas unsailed...

And a starter I've acquired a new trailer hitch. Now I need to find out what it's all about, this line of the open road, a second hand trailer.

Some of the projects in my list of things to do will work out. The pattern of this marriage is clear. And perhaps I won't be as badly as a mail order catalog.

U.S. Ready to Talk MIRV Halt With Russia

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has pronounced the United States prepared to consider a ban on the testing of advanced multiple warhead missiles in arms control talks with the Soviet Union.

Nixon made the statement in a July 9 letter to Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., declaring his support of an early start on strategic arms limitation negotiations.

In those talks, the President said, the United States will be prepared to consider a moratorium or a ban on the testing of multiple independently-targeted re-entry vehicles—MIRVs.

Brooke disclosed contents of the President's letter Tuesday in urging that the Senate act on his resolution seeking an immediate moratorium on such tests.

The administration, which originally sought a July 31 beginning of arms limitation talks, is still awaiting word from Moscow on an acceptable starting date.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union are at work on MIRV weapons which could aim nuclear warheads from a single missile at multiple targets.

Edgewood and to blacktop North Bell and East Berry Streets are scheduled for this date also.

A report by Bill Wray was made regarding the dumping of old stoves, refrigerators, washing machines, etc., on North Greenwood Street, near the Hope Iron and Metal Company. These items were dumped there and were not wanted by the Hope Iron and Metal Company as they have no market for them. Some of these items were dumped on street right-of-way, but have been moved by Hope Iron and Metal Company, and people are asked not to dump such items in this area in the future.

Joe Chism, who has been assistant to the Parks and Recreation Director, will act as director until a permanent Parks and Recreation Director is hired to replace Steve Marlar, whose resignation became effective August 1.

Experimental Satellite Is In Trouble

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With its chances of survival rated "a real cliffhanger" for the next two weeks, a $12 million experimental satellite tumbled around earth today while engineers planned ways to bring it under control.

Launched Tuesday, the 1,980-pound craft—called ATS 5 for fifth Applications Technology Satellite—ended up in the right orbit but on the wrong side of earth and began spinning end-over-end.

Despite the problems, Robert J. Darcey, chief of the ATS office at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Space Flight Center, rated chances as "pretty damn good" that the spacecraft can be straightened out and shifted to its desired station over the Pacific 600 miles west of South America.

An attempt to regain control probably will not take place for two weeks, however, and another official predicted "it'll be a real cliffhanger" until then.

Packed with apparatus for 3 experiments including extendable booms nearly as long as a football field, the satellite was designed to test ideas for spacecraft of the future.

If successful, one of three communications experiments aboard the payload could pave the way for satellites to relay high-frequency radio signals between air traffic controllers and transoceanic jets and pinpoint the aircraft's location over areas out of range of ground-based radars.

Another, called a millimeter wave experiment, was to test radio frequencies higher than any yet used in space communications to see whether they could be put to work in future television relay or military satellites.

The thin booms, which would make the spacecraft measure 253 feet long if fully extended, were to experiment with a theory that gravity can act on an appropriately shaped satellite to keep one side always toward earth, much as the same face of the moon always looks at this planet.

The flight plan called for the satellite to settle in a stationary circular orbit 22,300 miles high. At that altitude, a spacecraft's orbital speed matches earth's rotation, keeping the satellite over the same ground area.

Spacecraft problems forced flight controllers to trigger the satellite's motor 11 hours sooner than planned, however, positioning the craft in the right orbit but over the Indian Ocean rather than the eastern Pacific.

Suit Against Dismissal of Negro Teachers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Plum Bayou-Tucker School District is seeking dismissal of a U.S. District Court suit charging the district reduced its faculty by eliminating only Negro teachers.

The suit, filed by three Negro teachers and six Negro students, also charges that the district failed to evaluate the qualifications of the Negro teachers.

The district filed the motion for dismissal Tuesday.

The district says teachers were dismissed "solely on the basis of teacher competence" and "without regard to race."

The school board has adopted a plan to close the all-Negro Rosenwald school at Tucker this fall, with all students attending the Plum Bayou school at Wright.

Lunar Landers to Be Honored at Big Dinner

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — America's lunar astronaut heroes receive unprecedented tribute tonight as President Nixon's guests of honor at a glittering formal state dinner.

The dinner begins at 8:30 p.m., with the entrance of Nixon and astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins.

It ends an estimated two hours later, in the flag-decked, rust-colored ballroom of the Century Plaza Hotel, with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Sharing the head table with the Apollo 11 crew will be the President and his wife, Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew and the astronauts' wives.

A celebrity-only list of guests coming to dinner includes an array of government leaders including 44 of the 50 governors, diplomats from 86 nations, aviation and space pioneers such as Charles A. Lindbergh and Hollywood stars.

The Western White House in nearby San Clemente described the affair, to be televised internationally, as the largest formal state dinner ever held for guests from the general public.

Never has such a crowd of celebrities—1,440—gathered in Los Angeles at one time, said a Los Angeles police department spokesman. There was security to match.

The spokesman said men were being deployed around the hotel in the event of trouble during a planned march by a group calling itself the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

SEXY—GENERALIAN IS TELEPHONE ROMEO

Dear Helen: What do you do with a husband hearing 60 who is convinced he still has a sexy voice and has a positive penchant for wooing women on the telephone?

Recently I caught him "daring" and "sweetheartin'" some once on the phone. He swears it means nothing, that he loves only me. He tells me this is just the way he talks, and the woman is a very decent person, devoted to her family, with a son in Vietnam. How can a wholesome devoted to her family, with a son in Vietnam. How can a some wife and mother continue to accept such calls? As far as I know, they don't meet.

Do I resign myself to sticking it out until he is too old and feeble to dial another woman's number? Please don't suggest a psychoanalyst. I already have and he says I'm making a big think over nothing. — DIS-HEARTENED WIFE

Dear Wife: Remember the old song, "You Call Everybody Darling?" Those endearing words couldn't mean business if your husband makes no effort to see the woman. Perhaps, as he says, it's just his way—but if he calls her for no good reason, you have a right to complain. — H.

Dear Helen: My wife wants to "go under an assumed mane" that is, buy a wig. I think this is the most asinine thing I ever heard of, paying good money for what you already have. Will you please set her straight? AU NATUREL

Dear Au: Sorry, I go for "assumed manes." Give your wife a wig for Labor Day and she'll give you enough love to last until Christmas. — H.

Dear Helen: That "Danny," the Serviceman who asked "Can't women be faithful any more?" He doesn't know much. I'm a Navy wife, and I'm faithful, even though I'm considered fair game to all the stay-at-home men. They tell me I'm dumb, as my husband is living it up overseas, and don't I know about a sailor having a girl in every port?

I'm beginning to think I am, because I don't get much consideration, even when he's home, which is seldom. Maybe he's used up all his lovin' on those other gals, for all he does is sit in front of the TV and yell at the kids if they even peep. Danny tells about all the "Dear John" letters his company gets. I could tell you about all the hopeful wives who don't get letters at all, but hear indirectly that their men are shackled up with cute little foreign tricks. And other wives who find that the men who come home to them are entirely different than the nice guys they kissed goodbye.

It takes a special breed to be a Service wife—or husband. Most people aren't that strong, including me! — HAVE ALMOST HAD IT!

Dear Helen: The lovely, lonely lady who said she talked to herself to keep her voice in good condition is so right. I even answer myself, and I'm not selfish! I've talked every word of this letter as I wrote it, and I've written a lot that you'll probably omit, just so I'd have someone to talk to. Now my voice is percolating again! — ANOTHER "ALL-ALONE"

Father of the Lennon Sisters Killed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William H. Lennon has been killed by a mysterious gunman only weeks from achieving his greatest ambition—to see his four singing daughters in their own television show.

The 54-year-old father of 11 was shot down Tuesday at the Marina Del Rey golf range, where he was an instructor.

Police investigators, who said they had no clues to the killer's motive or identity, received this account from witnesses:

Lennon was standing by his car when a man carrying a rifle approached. An argument took place, followed by a struggle for the gun.

A shot went wild. Lennon, shouting "Help!", started running across the parking lot. The killer, a tall, bearded white man about 35, fired twice and Lennon fell. The gunman walked closer and fired a third time.

The killer, wearing blue trousers and a green sweater, fled in a small blue and white car.

Twins Lose, So Does Oakland

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a bad day for Oakland, despite Reggie Jackson's 42nd home run, and it was a dismal day for Minnesota, despite peace in the clubhouse, but it was a great day for the Irish.

What else could you call it when Rory Erín Kilkenny is born and father Mike celebrates by pitching Detroit past California 7-2 with a three-hitter?

And if that wasn't enough, Rory Erín is the first child of the Kilkennys and father Mike marked that first with his first complete game, first hit and first run batted in in the major leagues.

While the elder Kilkenny must have been doing an Irish jig, Oakland and Minnesota had little to swing about.

The A's wasted Jackson's tying two-run homer in the ninth inning when Baltimore scored in the bottom of the ninth for a 4-3 victory, and the New York Yankees hit the Twins harder than the Twins hit themselves in a 10-3 rout.

In other games, the Chicago White Sox blasted erring Boston 10-5, Cleveland edged Seattle 6-5 and Kansas City beat Washington 6-3.

In the National League, Montreal stunned Cincinnati 8-3 and 5-2, the Chicago Cubs dropped San Diego 4-0, Los Angeles tripped St. Louis 5-2, Houston held off the New York Mets 8-7, Philadelphia was rained out at Atlanta and, in the afternoon, San Francisco defeated Pittsburgh 6-3.

Kilkenny, 2-2, had things much easier against the Angels than he did earlier in the day when he rushed his wife 15 miles to the hospital and beat the stork by nine minutes at 12:59 p.m. After his five-pound son appeared—six weeks premature—he went home, sent his wife home, rose, let the dog out and went to the ballpark to celebrate.

Making his fourth start of the season after specializing in the minor leagues as a reliever, the 24-year-old stringbean left-hander did lose his first major league shutout when Bubba Morton homered in the fifth inning.

By then the Tigers had a 3-0 lead and Kilkenny and Tom Tresh rapped run-scoring singles in the fifth. Tresh added his ninth homer in the seventh.

Kilkenny finished with 10 strike outs and then raced out of the clubhouse to the hospital.

Jackson, without a homer in his last 55 trips to the plate and 38 at bats, followed a walk to Jose Tartabull with none out in the ninth with his belt over the right centerfield fence off winner Pete Richert, 6-3. It tied the game 3-3, but the Orioles, going for their seventh victory in eight games, didn't stay impressed long.

In the bottom of the ninth with one out, Curt Motton walked, Don Buford, who homered earlier, beat out a bunt and Paul Blair singled in the winning run.

The loss ruined Oakland's chance to take over the lead in the West Division from the Twins, who stopped swinging punches at each other and instead took one on the chin from the Yankees.

The Yankees, winning their ninth game in 10 starts, scored eight runs in the seventh inning—their biggest since July 2, 1965—to overcome a 3-2 deficit. Gene Michael tripled in the tying run and reliever Al Worthington walked in two runs. After Len Boehmer's run-scoring hit, Bill Robinson singled in two runs and Horace Clarke tripled for the final two.

A two-run homer by loser Jim Kaat, 11-9, and a solo shot by Leo Cardenas had put the Twins ahead before they lost their fifth in a row.

The White Sox scored five unearned runs on three Boston errors and a passed ball and Bill Melton and Ken Berry hit solo homers, snapping a six-game losing streak, despite homers by Russ Gibson and Tony Conigliaro of the Red Sox.

Ken Harrelson and Duke Sims stroked consecutive homers, climaxing a tie-breaking five-run fifth inning for Cleveland's victory.

Kansas City overcame Lee Maye's two-run homer in the first inning when Ellie Rodriguez singled home one run and two more scored on consecutive squeeze bunts by Jackie Hernandez and winner Wally Bunker, 7-9, in the second. Rodriguez then singled in the decisive run in the third for a 4-2 lead.

Redlegs Hit a Big Storm at Montreal

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

The rain that fell on Phil Niekro and the Braves in Atlanta Tuesday night was nothing compared to the unexpected storm the Cincinnati Reds encountered in Montreal.

And when the skies had cleared and the dust had settled, the crowded race in the National League West was as muddled as ever.

By sweeping a twin-nighter from Cincinnati 8-3 and 5-2, the lowly Expos sliced the Reds' lead in the NL West to two games over Atlanta, 2½ over Los Angeles and San Francisco and three over Houston.

Meanwhile, for the second time in two weeks, the Braves and Niekro were rained out a big lead—this time 5-0—in the fourth inning of a game with Philadelphia.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles shocked St. Louis 5-2, San Francisco beat Pittsburgh 6-3, Houston shaded New York 8-7 and the Chicago Cubs blanked San Diego 4-0, stretching their lead in the NL East to 8½ games over the Mets and Cardinals.

In the American League, the New York Yankees shelled Minnesota 10-3, Baltimore nipped Oakland 4-3, Detroit whipped California 7-1, the Chicago White Sox hammered Boston 10-5, Kansas City stopped Washington 6-3 and Cleveland edged Seattle 6-5.

The Reds, who outlasted a 2½-hour tornado to beat Philadelphia Saturday night, invaded Montreal with a five-game winning streak while the Expos had lost six in a row. But the Expos, led by Coco Laboy, started their thunder in the first inning of the opener and never let up.

Laboy drove in five runs, three in the first game, and pitcher Steve Renko, who won the opener with a seven-hitter, Rusty Staub and Adolfo Phillips belted solo homers, while the home-happy Reds settled for two-run shots by Alex Johnson in the opener and Johnny Bench in the nightcap.

Laboy singled in two runs in the very first inning of the evening and added another with a grounder in the third as the Expos grabbed a 6-0 lead. He had a run-scoring single in the first inning of the nightcap and doubled home the final run in the seventh.

Renko went the route in the first game and Bill Stoneman worked into the eighth of the finale, when the Reds loaded the bases. Elroy Face got Pete Rose on a grounder for the final out of the inning and retired the side in order in the ninth.

Manager Gene Mauch of the Expos wasn't about to feel sorry for the Reds.

"The only thing I care about is how well we play," he said. "I don't really care who it's against, as long as we play well. Hell, their (Cincinnati's) whole line-up is tough to stop. Against that club, you want to get all the runs you can."

Niekro, seeking to become the NL's first 17-game winner, was breezing along when the rains came in Atlanta. It was exactly two weeks to the night after Niekro had an 8-0 lead washed out in Philadelphia.

Another loser was Henry Aaron, whose 30th home run went down the drain.

Manny Mota tied the score with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth inning and Jim LeFebvre followed with a three-run homer as the Dodgers turned back St. Louis and prevented the Cards from moving past the Mets into second place in the East. The four-run uprising came against reliever Joe Hoerner.

Bill Sudakis homered for the Dodgers in the sixth as they started their comeback from a 2-0 deficit.

Jim Davenport drove in three runs with two singles and a double as the Giants tripped the Pirates and Gaylord Perry, 15-8, struggled to a 10-hit triumph and survived homers by Willie Stargell and Jose Pagan.

The Astros continued to plague the Mets, whipping them for the eighth straight time. Curt Blefary put Houston ahead 6-5 in the sixth with a three-run homer and prevented the tying run from scoring in the eighth with a fine defensive play.

Ed Kranepool's three-run homer and Tommie Agee's two-run single staked the Mets and Jerry Koosman to a 5-1 lead in the fourth. After the Astros took an 8-5 lead, Agee singled two more runs across in the eighth before first baseman Belfary leaped high to snag Ken Boswell's hopper to end the rally.

Ferguson Jenkins, 15-10, hurled the Cubs past the Padres with a six-hitter. He struck out 10 and preserved his shutout against are synonymous with championships. Red Auerback is synonymous with championships. We think it's a privilege to pay $6 million for the team."

Thus the president of a New York holding company explains his group's thinking in paying what he believes to be the highest price ever for a basketball franchise—topping the $5 million spent by Jack Kent Cooke to bring the Lakers to Los Angeles several years ago.

"Our confidence is based on the market location, the historical support of the franchise and the management team," E. E. "Woody" Erdman, board chairman and president of Trans National Communications Inc. added at a news conference announcing the transaction Tuesday.

Erdman and his associates said they couldn't understand anyone even thinking in terms of moving the team from the city where it has flourished over the past dozen years or so as probably the greatest dynasty in pro sports history.

Trans National is a relatively new firm which owns the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League. It has various other holdings and has indicated it is in the market for more major league sports franchises. Trans National purchased the team from the P. Ballantine & Sons Brewery.

Mallard Kill Can Be High as 2 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The

Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife told the nation's waterfowl hunters Tuesday they may kill 2,167 million Mallards this season without upsetting the population balance.

The only breed of ducks that did not show a major population increase, Ducks Unlimited said, was canvasbacks, which have been declining for years.

Some of the general recommendations for all four flyways were:

States may select split seasons for ducks within various option but subject to a 10 per cent penalty in days for duck hunting.

Basic shooting hours from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Broad recommendations for individual flyways included:

Mississippi Flyway—Open and closing dates between Oct. 1, 1969, and Jan. 15, 1970 with a 30-day straight season or split season of 27 days and a basic bag limit of three daily and six in possession. An option to this is a 31-day split with basic limit of four daily and eight in possession.

Individual species limitations would include two mallards per day and one canvasback or one redhead and two wood ducks.

Between Sept. 27, 1969, and Jan. 11, 1970, states in this flyway except for Louisiana would be able to select an open season on geese totalling 70 days with a daily bag and possession limit of five. But there would be no open season in Arkansas and Louisiana and three adjacent counties in Mississippi.

The usual daily bag limit of two Canada geese—the most killed species—would apply in most Mississippi flyway states.

Attendance in Baseball Increases

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Big league baseball is on the ball this season as far as attendance is concerned with the turnstiles clicking much more frequently than last year for the Chicago Cubs, Atlanta Braves and Washington Senators.

However, most of the 15 per cent increase registered in the majors to date can be attributed to the expansion of both circuits from 10 to 12 teams.

An Associated Press survey revealed today that the over-all attendance for the 24 teams is 19,413,241 compared with 16,901,345 for the 20 teams in 1968. This is a gain of 2,511,896.

The expansion teams, though, Montreal and San Diego in the National League and Kansas City and Seattle in the American League, have combined to attract 2,430,368 to their home games. Thus, the over-all increase for the 20 teams which operated in the majors in 1968 is only 81,528, or four per cent.

The Expos are leading the new clubs with a home attendance figure of 802,057. Kansas City is next with 653,137 followed by Seattle, 500,957, and San Diego, 474,217.

The Cubs, pacing the NL's East Division standings, show the largest attendance hike in either league. They are 408,758 ahead of last year. Atlanta is up 221,053 and Washington 203,543 over 1968.

Nine other clubs show increases. They are Cincinnati, 140,899; Baltimore, 93,135; the New York Yankees, 90,754; Houston, 69,479; Boston, 57,703; Minnesota, 43,513; the New York Mets, 31,203; the Los Angeles Dodgers, 22,699; and Pittsburgh, 5,495.

The St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers, defending league titleholders, are slumping the most at the gate. The Tigers are 287,880 paid spectators behind last year and the Cards 259,613. The figures include Sunday's games.

Other teams below their home attendance aggregates are Cleveland, 199,591; California, 187,317; the Chicago White Sox, 146,096; Philadelphia, 143,044; San Francisco, 51,357, and Oakland, 32,898.

The Mets, who top both leagues in attendance, are outdrawing the Yankees in New York, 1,363,286 to 850,394. The Cubs are way ahead of the White Sox in Chicago with 1,156,955 to the Sox' 431,111 and the A's lead the Giants in the Bay Area, 561,839 to 547,726.

In addition to the Mets and Cubs, six other teams have passed the million mark. They are Boston, which leads the American League with 1,329,246; the Dodgers, 1,232,909; Detroit, 1,192,941; St. Louis, 1,191,172; Houston, 1,073,292 and Atlanta, 1,018,145.

Hurlers Team to Give Win to Travelers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—

Ramon Hernandez and Bob Chlupka combined for a three-hitter Tuesday night and hurled the Arkansas Travelers to a 9-0 victory over Dallas-Fort Worth in Texas League action.

Arkansas batted three Spurs pitchers for 15 hits, including a two-run home run by Luis Melendez in the fourth inning.

Hernandez had a one-hitter and a 5-0 lead after five innings and left because a muscle stiffened in his pitching arm. Chlupka gave up singles in the sixth to Don Baylor and Stan Martin, the first two men he faced, and then retired 12 in a row.

Arkansas scored two runs against loser Rich Thoms in the first inning on three singles and a hit batsman. In the third, Gaylon Pitts singled, stole second, and scored on a single by Bill Trombino.

Arkansas got three runs off Herman Grant in the sixth innings on hits by Manuel Abreu, Chlupka, Melendez, Pitts and a sacrifice fly by Cruz and an error.

Singles by Bart Zeller, Abreu and Cruz produced the final Arkansas run in the seventh.

Bills Forgot to Get O.J. a Helmet

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Buffalo Bills shelled out a reported $350,000 to nail O. J. Simpson's signature to an American Football League contract but forgot one minor detail—a helmet.

Even before the heralded Heisman Trophy winning half-back from California trotted out to make his pro debut in scrimmage Tuesday at the Bills' training camp in Niagara Falls, N.Y., it was revealed that Buffalo didn't have a helmet which would fit the elongated face of Simpson.

So until a specially-made helmet is airlifted in from California, the highest paid rookie since the merger of the AFL-National League in 1966, who signed a four-year pact Saturday after holding out four weeks, will not be able to join in any contact drills.

However, the 22-year-old Simpson did work out in a two-hour drill wearing uniform No. 36. Simpson wore No. 32 in college but that number is worn by veteran running back Gary McDermott.

The Bills, 1-1 in exhibition play, will face the NFL Detroit Lions Friday in an exhibition game.

"I'll be ready to play Friday. Mentally though it may be difficult because this is a difficult system to learn here," Simpson said.

Elsewhere in the AFL, the champion New York Jets, 1-1, "worked out in preparation for their Sunday game with their arch-rivals of the NFL, the New York Giants, 0-1.

And Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets said Joe Namath will play at least half of the game in the Yale Bowl at New Haven, Conn.

"He wants to play and he needs to play," Ewbank said. "But we also have to find a No. 2 quarterback. So Babe Parilli and Al Woodall also will play."

Meanwhile, Allie Sherman, coach of the Giants, said that Fran Tarkenton will play as long as the Giants have a chance of winning this first ever battle between the two New York teams.

"We're going to play our best football players. We want to get an idea of just how good we are. We're going to play to win," Sherman said.

Elsewhere, Marlin "The Magician" Briscoe, first Negro quarterback to pilot a major pro football team for an extended time, was made a free agent by the AFL Denver Broncos.

Lou Saban, coach and general manager of the Broncos, said that none of the other nine AFL clubs claimed Briscoe for the $100 waiver price.

The Broncos had placed Briscoe on the injured list last week but Briscoe told reporters he was not injured. He claimed the Broncos just wanted to get rid of him.

The AFL Boston Patriots cut four players, including the team's No. 1 draft choice of four years ago, offensive lineman Karl Singer.

Cincinnati of the AFL let three players go—tight end Ken Herok, back Bob Cunningham and receiver Alvin Scott. Meanwhile, former Bengal quarterback Dewey Warren, just recently released, was signed by the Las Vegas club of the Continental League.

The Bills cut veteran fullback Bob Cappelton and rookie line-backer Mark Proskine of Northwestern.

Over in the Chicago Bears' NFL camp offensive guard George Seals walked out, and owner George Halas said Seals would be fined $200 for every practice day he misses.

Seals left camp Monday night but would not discuss the reason. Reportedly, it was a contract dispute.

House Delays Action on Student Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the start of college classes only weeks away, Congress has left the guaranteed student loan program hanging in limbo.

The Senate voted 92-1 Tuesday to revive the student loans, but the House couldn't resolve a squabble over student rioting and will delay action until after Sept. 3 when the congressional vacation ends.

Sponsors of the bill argued that passage this month was essential so college-bound students could get the money necessary for many of them to continue their education.

College officials have estimated that 200,000 students may be denied aid for the coming college year if Congress fails to act.

The Senate bill makes Aug. 15 the effective date in the hope that banks will trust Congress to take final action on continuing the loan guarantees.

Fearing another fight over campus riots, House sponsors refused Tuesday to take the bill to the floor under the usual rules permitting amendments.

Members wanting to add anti-riot provisions refused to allow the bill to be taken up under a no-amendment arrangement.

The loan program is in trouble because the cost of borrowing money has risen to 8½ per cent interest or higher, while the student loans have a 7 per cent interest ceiling.

VETS TOGETHER AGAIN—In 1953 Bill Rigney, center, Hoyt Wilhelm, left, and Marv Grissom were teammates on the New York Giants. The three are together once again—Rigney is manager of the California Angels. Wilhelm is lengthening a notable career as a pitcher, and he takes instructions from pitching coach Grissom.

Rewards of Victory Elude Chiefs

By LEW FERGUSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs won more football games in 1968 than they ever had before, yet the rewards of victory eluded them. They couldn't even lay claim to a divisional championship.

The Chiefs, American Football League champions in 1962 and 1966, tied Oakland for the Western Division title with a 12-2 record, then lost to the Raiders 41-6 in a playoff game.

It is the bitter memory of that defeat which the Chiefs hope to erase in 1969.

"We'll definitely be improved, but it will be a real challenge to duplicate our record of 1968," says Coach Hank Stram, who has guided the Chiefs since they began operations in 1960 as the Dallas Texans and who was named AFL Coach of the Year by The Associated Press last year.

"Ours is a veteran team which should improve because of the normal development of our younger players, and because we hope to avoid the injuries which hampered us in 1968," Stram adds.

Injuries to receivers Otis Taylor and Frank Pitts and fullback Curtis McCClinton forced Stram to do a lot of patchwork a year ago. In one game with Oakland, Stram reverted to the straight-T. The Chiefs attempted only three passes and beat the Raiders 24-10.

Taylor still is troubled by leg problems and Stram admits, "We don't know for sure how quickly it will heal." Gloster Richardson likely will start the season as flanker in place of Taylor.

Pitts has recovered and will be at split end. McCClinton lost his fullback job to 1968 rookie standout Robert Holmes and has been shifted to tight end. He is battling veteran Reg Carolan there, and Carolan appears to be winning the job held for years by Fred Arbanas.

Arbanas has been shifted to offensive tackle and is running behind regular right tackle Dave Hill. "There is every indication that Freddie will do an outstanding job as offensive tackle," Stram said. "He is improving steadily and making the adjustment well."

Main losses are offensive lineman Curt Merz, who retired, and defensive tackle Ernie Ladd, who underwent knee surgery and will sit out this season because the knee did not respond to treatment.

Merz' retirement will become important, Stram said, "only if there are injuries to key offensive linemen; then we'll miss his experience." Ladd's loss is not considered so vital, largely because the Chiefs are so high on Curley Culp, a second-year man from Arizona State.

"He's making great progress and should fortify defensive tackle extremely well," Stram said of Culp, a 265-pounder.

Len Dawson will again direct the Chiefs' offense with backup help from Jack Lee. Dawson, considered by the Chiefs to be pro football's most underrated quarterback, now is 34 but led the AFL in passing last year for the fourth time.

Mike Garrett, Wendell Hayes and Holmes will shoulder most of the running load. Holmes was No. 2 in the AFL last year with 866 yards rushing.

Kansas City's top rookie prospects are defensive back Jim Marsalis of Tennessee State, "running back" Ed Podolak of Iowa and linebacker Bob Stein of Minnesota. None is expected to crack the starting lineup early in the season, however.

"We will be better, but so will a lot of other teams," Stram concludes. "Oakland will definitely be the team to beat in the American Football League."

Boundaries Set for ASC Elections

Ralph Montgomery, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has designated the boundaries of each community within the county where elections of ASC community committees will be held September 9-9, 1969. The election will be held by mail. Ballots will be mailed to all known eligible voters. Boundaries of the various communities where elections will be held appear on committee election posters which are displayed at various public locations throughout the county. A listing of boundaries is also available at the ASCS county office.

Farmers who are eligible to vote in the community committee elections also have the right to nominate by petition candidates for committee membership.

A candidate can be any farmer who is eligible and who has indicated that he is willing to serve. Such petitions, each one nominating one farmer and signed by six or more eligible voters, may be filed at the county office any time before August 25. Eligible voters may wish. Additional nominations may be made by the incumbent ASC Community and County Committees. The nominating procedure seeks to insure fair and impartial elections by reducing vote splintering of minority group candidates.

ASC community committees should always be the farmers who can best represent their neighbors, according to the chairman. States of nominees for membership on ASC community committees soon will be established at the ASCS County office.

"The committee system is the backbone of the farm programs," the chairman declared. "Its responsibilities include the conservation of natural resources on farms, the stabilization of agricultural commodities, the price-support activities which protect and improve farm income. We need the best possible cross-section of farmers to insure effective administration of the various measures."

In Hempstead County, Mr. Montgomery explained, 810 farmers took part last year in one or more programs administered by the ASC committees. Funds disbursed under the committees' supervision amounted to $600,807. Of this amount $353,920 was for price support loans aimed at increasing market returns above what farmers would receive on an unsupported

Congress Goes on Vacation Until Sept. 3

By WILLIAM F. ARDCAST

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress takes off today on its first planned "summer" vacation in modern history, a concession to its younger members and an admission that it will be in session the rest of the year after it returns Sept. 3.

Only a corporal's guard was available for formal adjournment after today's no-business meetings of the House and the Senate. Many got an early start on foreign junkets and others were headed for Los Angeles and a testimonial banquet for the Apollo 11 astronauts.

But some of the younger members with children who must return to school in September were packed up for beaches and other vacation spots.

It was the insistence of the young fathers that spurred the elderly leaders of Congress early this year to fix a schedule that would allow for planned family vacations.

In past years, vacation planning was a hit and miss proposition. There always was the hope that there would be an early summer adjournment—a hope seldom realized. Leaders had no young families lobbying for a summer recess.

A group of senators, mostly old veterans, put up a protest when the Senate voted on the recess Tuesday, but it was approved 76-14.

With the calendar year almost two-thirds gone, the workload of Congress for 1969 still lies ahead.

A landmark tax reform bill has passed the House but not the Senate. So has a bill extending the elementary and secondary education program.

The official "status of major bills" lists two laws enacted. One increased the national debt limit; the other continued the income tax surcharge first imposed last year.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY:
The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.

1899—Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude McCorkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.

The opposition line:
1880—Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.

1883—Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.
1883—Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.

1884—Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W. Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.

1916—Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald—but both papers suspended in 1922.

1926—Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly Hempstead County Review.
1927—Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.

1929—C.E. Palmer and A.H. Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.

1957—Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.

1969—With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president—balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Hepatitis Treatment Not Always Successful

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Stranger than fiction was the treatment recently given to a woman in South Africa who had infectious hepatitis and was in a coma. She had been given several large transfusions without showing any improvement. As a last resort, a cross circulation with a live baboon was set up. Her blood passed through the baboon and back to her own circulation. The baboon's normally functioning liver cleared her blood of the poisonous by-products of her infection and she made a complete recovery.

Another human being could not have been used for this purpose because this would have transferred the disease to that person. Unfortunately, when this treatment was tried on four persons whose failing liver function was due to chronic disease rather than to an acute infection, the operation was unsuccessful. There is hope of success, however, when the treatment is applied to properly selected patients who would otherwise die.

appearance neat and to maintain a keen interest in the life around them rather than retreat from the stress of living remain youthful at any age.

Tissues and functions that are not constantly used deteriorate. King Gustav V of Sweden was able to play tennis at 70 because he never used his advancing age as an excuse to give up. Even if you can't play tennis every day, you can increase the length of your daily walk with or without jogging. Avoid overweight, abstain from smoking and observe all the other rules of healthful living.

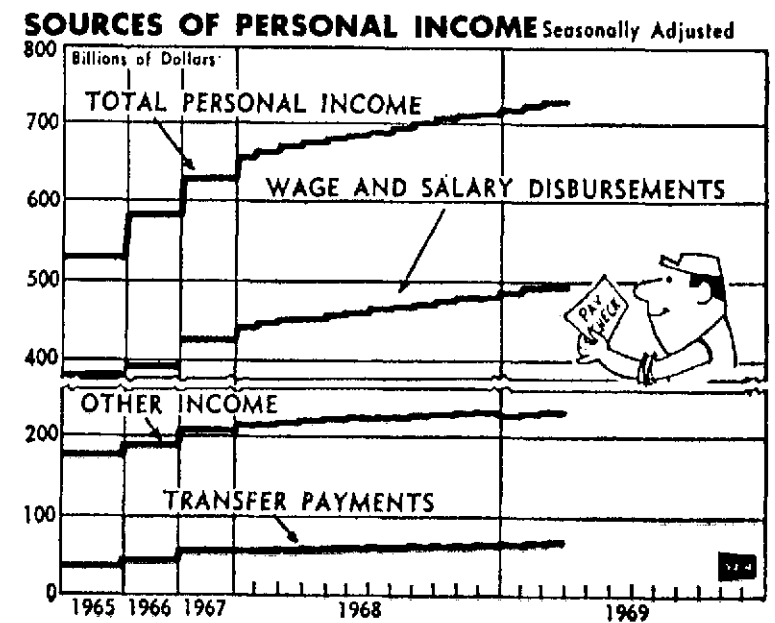

The drugs that may be of value in carefully selected cases include small doses of anticoagulants, Hovizyme, Benizol and stanazolol. None of these are wonder drugs and none should be taken without medical supervision.

Q—I'm taking five drops of iodine in water twice a day. Could this cause my temples to feel full?

A—No, but your doctor should search for the cause of your discomfort.

Total personal income for Mr. Consumer and his fellows at the end of the year's first quarter reached $726.7 billion, at the seasonally adjusted annual rate. Wage and salary disbursements totaled $494.6 billion, and transfer payments were at the rate of $62.8 billion. Today's hand would be a field day for superperfect players. Perfect players sitting North and South would stop short of game. This North and South didn't.

After this failure of perfection in bidding, perfect players sitting East and West would find a defense to beat the game contract. One way would be for West to open a diamond and East to put him in later on with the king of hearts in order to ruff a diamond with the deuce of trumps. Or three rounds of trumps played immediately would ruin South's chances.

East and West were good players. West made the normal opening of the deuce of hearts. East took his ace and played out three rounds of trumps.

This left South with the problem of avoiding a club loser. The odds favored finding the queen of clubs in the East hand so Good Player South tried the club finesse and went down.

A superperfect player would have no trouble making the hand. He would realize that West held the king of hearts since East had won the first heart trick with the ace.

He would also mark West with the queen of clubs, relying on clairvoyance rather than any idea of probability. Once West was marked with both those key cards, South would simply run off all trumps and diamonds to come down to three clubs in his hand and the ace-three of clubs and queen of hearts in dummy.

Poor West would be squeezed out of his protection for the queen of clubs in order to hang on to the king of hearts and South would just cash out the clubs.

Television and Radio
By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Bracken's World," a new dramatic television series, will try to capture that Hollywood tinsel and tragedy, ecstasy and agony of which fan magazines and best-sellers are made. Students of motion pictures, off-screen and on-screen, may have special fun with the series since at least half the plots and half the characters have their roots in reality. Among members of the big Cast—regulars—are three neophyte actresses. One is, in the words of writer Bob Lewin, "a sexy, driven girl who is married to a cop." Another, also blonde, is rich and Main Line society. A third is talented and retiring, dominated by a pushing stage mother. Their real-life prototypes may form the basis of a guessing game. Then there are situations based on segments of Hollywood history. One show is concerned with a budding love affair between a white starlet and Negro boy, and the studio's attitude. Another is climaxed by a scene in which a great woman star stands up in public and blames the studio head for her personal destruction. While based on fact, none is the stuff that makes law suits since real episodes provided only an idea and the shows are not carbon copies. Lewin, a former newspaperman who is now associate producer, said the "Bracken" of the title is the studio head and his world, of course, is the studio. The series is being shot at 20th Century-Fox, a great, bustling lot, and the series can utilize sets from other productions. Earlier this week, they shot scenes on what used to be "Peyton Place's" wharf, redressed to become a Santa Monica pier. Eleanor Parker, an attractive, mature actress with a long string of film credits, is the biggest name in the series. She plays the assistant to Bracken, who will never be seen, at least not the first season. "If he did appear, he would have to be so dynamic and so powerful that he would polarize the other characters," Lewin said. This week the plot has Miss Parker's character giving an over-the-hill director a chance for comeback. Some scenes, when he returns to directing, require the use of two sets of equipment, with extras manning the lights and cameras shown in the scene. "It gets a little confusing," said Lewin. "Sometimes when an actor calls 'Cut!' on his cue, the cameraman thinks it's the director and then we have to reshoot the whole scene." "Bracken's World," has been dropped into the 10-11 p.m.

While based on fact, none is the stuff that makes law suits since real episodes provided only an idea and the shows are not carbon copies. Lewin, a former newspaperman who is now associate producer, said the "Bracken" of the title is the studio head and his world, of course, is the studio. The series is being shot at 20th Century-Fox, a great, bustling lot, and the series can utilize sets from other productions. Earlier this week, they shot scenes on what used to be "Peyton Place's" wharf, redressed to become a Santa Monica pier. Eleanor Parker, an attractive, mature actress with a long string of film credits, is the biggest name in the series. She plays the assistant to Bracken, who will never be seen, at least not the first season. "If he did appear, he would have to be so dynamic and so powerful that he would polarize the other characters," Lewin said. This week the plot has Miss Parker's character giving an over-the-hill director a chance for comeback. Some scenes, when he returns to directing, require the use of two sets of equipment, with extras manning the lights and cameras shown in the scene. "It gets a little confusing," said Lewin. "Sometimes when an actor calls 'Cut!' on his cue, the cameraman thinks it's the director and then we have to reshoot the whole scene." "Bracken's World," has been dropped into the 10-11 p.m.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE the scene is the Soviet Union? Dancers Natasha Volkova and Galina Trifonova give a preview of a coming Soviet attraction, a new color film titled "Moscow Musical."

Nixon Asks More Revenue for States

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today to start sharing income tax revenues with the states at a set amount each year with no strings attached.

The states could use the money as they see fit after passing on a fixed portion to city governments.

Nixon envisioned that most of the money would go to education.

And he saw the whole project as a means of "shifting the balance of political power from Washington back to the country and the people" and "narrowing the distance between the people and the government agencies dealing with their problems."

"Because of budget stringencies," Nixon said, the program would start out modestly with $500 million. But it would get up to $5 billion annually by mid-1975.

Nixon said he was keeping a campaign pledge with these proposals and also was expressing the feelings of the majority of Americans who, he declared, "no longer support the continued expansion of federal services."

The President said the revenue sharing proposal also would "provide encouragement and the necessary resources for local and state officials to exercise leadership in solving their own problems." He predicted it would "restore strength and vigor to local and state governments."

In the past three decades, Nixon said, there has been "enormous federal commitment in new men, new ideas and new dollars" from Washington but the problems of the cities deepened rapidly into crisis.

The federal government promised so much and delivered so little, he said, that there has been a loss in faith in its efficiency.

He explained his revenue sharing plan as follows:

1.—The size of the total fund to be shared should be a stated percentage of personal taxable income each year. For fiscal 1971 it would be a one third of one per cent. And it would rise in future years to a regular constant figure.

2.—The allocations of the total annual fund among the 50 states would be on the basis of each state's share of national population. As an incentive to expand its own tax resources, a state whose revenue effort is above

Retirement Approach Much Like Approaching a Mail Order Bride

By JOE WING
NEW YORK (AP) — Approaching retirement must be something like approaching a mail order bride. You hope she lives up to her advance billing, but you have mental reservations.

As soon as I announced that I would retire this summer, friends and acquaintances told me: "You lucky dog. No more commuting, or office hours, or back-breaking projects. You can just loaf and enjoy yourself."

I guess so. That's what I have had in mind for quite a while. But I notice that my most enthusiastic wishers are middle-aged men caught up in the tensions of their drives for success or for providing family funds. The ones nearing my age just say, "Good luck."

Retirement is going to be as much a change in life, I doubt not, as is marriage itself. After 50 years on the treadmill, what

Each American's Risk of Becoming a Victim of Crime Has Doubled

Senate Hot Over Policy in Thailand

By WILLIAM BARTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Each American's risk of becoming a victim of serious crime has nearly doubled since 1960, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today.

Hoover listed the statistic, showing more than one out of every 10 Americans was victimized by crime last year, in his 1968 Uniform Crime Reports compiled from records of the nation's law enforcement agencies.

Declaring "there is no comfort in the cold statistics," Hoover said almost 4.5 million serious crimes were reported in 1968—a 17 per cent increase over 1967.

All categories of crime shared in the rise, he said, and population growth alone cannot account for the 122 per cent volume increase in the last eight years.

"Crime continues to outstrip population growth 11 to 1," he said.

Broken down by categories, the figures showed robberies increased 30 per cent from 1967 to 1968; forcible rapes, 15 per cent; murder, 13 per cent; aggravated assault, 11 per cent; serious larceny, 21 per cent; auto theft, 19 per cent; and burglary, 14 per cent.

Hoover said the increase in murders—from 12,090 in 1967 to 13,650 in 1968—reflected the "largest absolute rise over any prior year" in this decade.

As in the past, he noted, firearms were the predominant weapon and the South was the region where the most murders occurred—47 per cent of the national total.

Overall, gun usage in criminal homicides increased 2 percent, as points as firearms were the means for committing 65 out of every 100 murders.

Hoover said handguns accounted for 50 per cent of the 1968 homicides, rifles for 6 per cent, and shotguns for 9 per cent. An assortment of lethal devices were used in the other 35 per cent.

Long a proponent of gun controls, the FBI director reported that firearms were the weapons for 65,000 assaults and 99,000 robberies as well as the 8,900 murders during the year.

Since 1954, he said, the use of firearms in murders has increased 71 per cent, in aggravated assaults 117 per cent, and in robberies 113 per cent.

Accused Robber Gets Attorney

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Drew Bowers, a Little Rock attorney, was appointed Tuesday to defend Joseph Eddie Broadway, charged with attempting to rob the Bauxite branch of the Benton State Bank on Jan. 18.

U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley made the appointment after Broadway, 27, of Bauxite told the judge he could not afford an attorney.

Broadway has been convicted of robbing the bank twice and burglarizing it once.

Nixon Turns Cheerleader for Heroes

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon turns cheerleader today for a nationwide salute to the three heroes of the Apollo 11 moon landing.

He launches his day with a visit from Frank Borman, the astronaut who served as White House adviser during the historic mission.

And he ends it in Los Angeles tonight, presiding over a nationally televised, flag-waving, dinner extravaganza with 1,400 celebrities honoring Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

The White House said it would be the largest state dinner ever held by an American president in honor of any public figure.

The President and his entire family will helicopter some 60 miles to Los Angeles in early evening to rendezvous with the three spacemen, who are traveling cross-country on one of Nixon's big presidential jet planes.

Throughout the day, Nixon planned to tune in periodically on the ticker tape parades lionizing the astronauts in New York and Chicago.

There was other business on the President's schedule, but the emphasis was on the three men who have given America's prestige a giant boost around the world.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was "watching very carefully" developments in Vietnam, where the enemy launched an outburst of attacks on 128 allied towns and bases.

The President continued his round of welfare policy messages to Congress with an outline of his plans for sharing about $1 billion of federal revenues with the states and cities.

And Nixon called in California Gov. Ronald Reagan to talk over proposed new welfare initiatives.

The only other scheduled visitor at the Western White House was Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, summoned to discuss the minority business enterprise program.

Board Hears 6th Street Report

The City Board of Directors, at their regularly scheduled meeting on August 12, heard a complete report on the progress of the Sixth Street Project from John Hawkins and Don Walker of Hawkins and Associates, Consulting Engineers.

They reported that the utility portion of the contract which was let approximately a year ago is complete except for a few minor items which will be completed soon. The paving contract, which was signed in May, is approximately one-third complete and progress is ahead of schedule at this time.

The contract on paving calls for completion by November 19, 1969. The curb and gutter West of the L&A tracks should be completed by August 22, and the next stage, which consists of seven inches of soil cement, should start the week of August 25th. They state that the 5" lime stabilization will be completed by August 22, and the next stage, this week for the entire project. This is the first time that this has been tried in Hope and it appears that it may be the answer to some of our street problems.

A public hearing was set for Tuesday, August 26, at 7:30 p.m. for the abandonment of Fulton Street between Mack Street and Park Drive. Hearings for proposal to curb and gutter South

Moonmen, Earthbound Americans Celebrate Fighting in Vietnam Dips Sharply

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — America's moon voyagers came to a tumultuous hero's welcome in New York today, joined in triumph by countless of their countrymen after their lonely mission in space.

This was no Sea of Tranquility they came to, far from the arid surface of the moon—this was New York at its fullest, its throngs hailing the moonmen that earthbound Americans soared with in spirit on one of the epic adventures of the ages.

They came to New York for a massive ticker-tape celebration, before heading westward to Chicago and Los Angeles, on a beautiful, warm and sunny day.

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, 39, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., 39, and Michael Collins, 38, landed at 9:45 a.m., EDT, at Kennedy Airport, named for the president who committed their nation to the lunar exploration.

With them were their wives and children, joining them on this journey through the city and across the nation after the long separation that started be-

Haynsworth Likely High Court Choice

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. is reported by Senate sources to be President Nixon's choice to fill the Supreme Court vacancy created by the resignation of Abe Fortas.

Sources say Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell researched the rulings of circuit court judges before recommending the elevation of Haynsworth from chief judge of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va., to a seat on the nation's highest tribunal.

Fortas quit in mid-May amid a controversy over his ties to the family foundation of jailed financier Louis E. Wolfson.

Haynsworth, a Democrat who was born in South Carolina, declines to discuss the report of the pending nomination. He told a reporter who reached him Tuesday at his Greenville, S.C., home: "I can't answer anything that will cause you to guess."

He added that if and when there is an announcement on Fortas' successor "it is up to the White House to make it."

A Senate source cautioned that a last-minute switch was always possible. Others most frequently mentioned include California Supreme Court Justice Louis H. Burke, former American Bar Association President Lewis F. Powell Jr. of Richmond, Va.; Judge Henry J. Friendly Jr. of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, New York; and Judge Charles D. Breitel of the New York State Court of Appeals.

By GEORGE ESPEY

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks dropped off more than 90 per cent today after the heaviest fighting in three months left more than 1,500 of the enemy and more than 200 allied soldiers dead.

Despite what American officers termed the "first high point of the Communist command's fall campaign," the withdrawal of 25,000 U.S. troops announced by President Nixon continued. The U.S. Command announced that 3,600 more men were leaving this week, including the remaining 2,000 men of the 9th Marine Regiment, a squadron of 14 Marine helicopters and the last antiaircraft missile battery in South Vietnam.

This will bring the total withdrawn to 17,200, leaving 7,800 to be pulled out by the end of the month.

U.S. headquarters reported 24 enemy rocket and mortar attacks Tuesday night on allied bases and towns. Nine caused damage or casualties, including three Americans killed and 25 wounded.

The U.S. Command said there were no new ground attacks during the night on American troops, but South Vietnamese spokesmen reported three small infantry assaults, two in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon and the third in the central high lands.

A U.S. communique said American forces alone killed 764 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in large-scale ground fighting, while 69 Americans were killed and 415 wounded. But other sources put the number of enemy dead at more than 1,500, the number of Americans killed at more than 100 and the Saigon government's loss at 107 killed.

The large-scale enemy attack broke a two-month battlefield lull and touched off speculation that the enemy might be launching a major fall campaign. Although this accelerated tempo was not maintained, U.S. analysts did not expect it to be. Instead they anticipate periodic "highpoints" followed by slack days or weeks.

The Viet Cong radio said the attacks were launched in response to an appeal from President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam: "to fight and to win" and to commemorate two major anniversaries; the revolt against the French on Aug. 18, 1945, and Ho's proclamation of independence 15 days later.

Field officers charged with defending the area along the Cambodian border north of Saigon, where the heaviest fighting occurred Tuesday, were bracing for another enemy thrust tonight.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment reported killing 452 North Vietnamese in repulsing a dozen infantry assaults 60 to 70 miles north of Saigon Tuesday. American casualties were put at 34 killed and 234 wounded.

Some World Briefs About the Astronauts and Visit to Moon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh, who made aviation history with his 33½-hour New York-Paris flight in 1927, makes an unusual public appearance when he attends tonight's state dinner for the Apollo 11 astronauts.

Lindbergh was 25 when he flew the single-engine Spirit of St. Louis across the Atlantic and became an instant international hero.

More than 100,000 screaming Parisians were at Le Bourget Airport when Lindbergh arrived. Nicknamed "the Lone Eagle," Lindbergh was toasted by European royalty before returning for a tumultuous welcome home to the United States.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — How does the first man to walk on the moon view today's packed schedule for the Apollo 11 astronauts?

"It's certainly the part of the mission we're least prepared to handle," astronaut Neil A. Armstrong said Tuesday.

KAPOHO, Hawaii (AP) — The next men who will tread the moon have left the lunarlike lava flows of Hawaii to toast the Apollo 11 astronauts in Los Angeles.

For several days, astronauts Charles Conrad and Alan Bean, the moonwalk team of the Apollo 12 crew, practiced with the tools they will use on the lunar surface in November.

They hiked and picked their way across the 1960 Kapoho lava flow on the island of Hawaii, collecting samples of soil and rock as they moved along. The fresh basaltic lava is similar to that on the moon.

CHICAGO (AP) — Apollo 11's astronauts are to be made honorary citizens of Chicago today during an unprecedented outdoor session of the City Council.

The ceremony takes place at Civic Center Plaza in the heart of the Loop.

In case of rain, preparations have been made to make the presentations of City Medals inside.

NEW YORK (AP) — The city took out a little parade success insurance in advance of today's visit by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

It distributed 125 cartons of tickertape to buildings along the lower Broadway route that the moonwalkers will follow.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — In one of their briefest visits during a hectic day of festivities today, the Apollo 11 astronauts plan a 15 minute stop at the United Nations.

Between a tickertape parade and their return to Kennedy airport to depart for Chicago, the astronauts will squeeze in the visit at U.N. Plaza outside the public entrance where they will appear with Secretary-General U. Thant, U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost and a host of officials and newsmen.

CHICAGO (AP) — State Street in downtown Chicago takes on a new look today in honor of the visit of the Apollo 11 astronauts.

Cars carrying Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins travel down the street where city workers have repainted the normal yellow median strip red, white and blue for the occasion.

Vehicle in the motorcade are to have special license plates prepared for the visit. The plates, yellow with red lettering, read: "City of Chicago—Apollo 11—Illinois 1969."

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay urged private business and city agencies to arrange work schedules today to allow the greatest number of employees to see the Apollo 11 astronauts during their visit to the city.

"I believe this event will be one of the great moments in New York's history, an event in which hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers will want to share," Lindsay said in a statement at City Hall.

CHICAGO (AP) — City officials estimate more than 50 miles of tickertape would tumble from office windows during the parade today honoring the men who landed on the moon. Police officials said they expect the motorcade to have the largest turnout of spectators since Britain's Queen Elizabeth II came to Chicago in 1959. Estimates on the number of spectators then ranged up to 2 million.

More than one sixth of the city's police force, 1,600 men, was assigned to handle today's crowds.

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks, ABC, CBS and NBC, plan the following coverage of today's three-city tour by the Apollo 11 astronauts. All times are Eastern Daylight.

10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.—Arrival at Kennedy Airport in New York, ticker tape parade up Broadway, City Hall ceremonies, visit to the United Nations.

3:30 to 5 p.m.—Arrival at O'Hare Airport in Chicago, parade and ceremonies.

11:15 p.m. to conclusion—State dinner at Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The gala dinner for the Apollo 11 astronauts tonight will be a memorable meal.

The menu includes poached salmon in champagne with prawns, oysters, truffles and crawfish butter; filet of beef on a crouton and gosseliver pate and a truffle sauce; hearts of artichokes stuffed with green peas and diced tomatoes; carrots with butter sauce; lime-stone lettuce salad with oil and vinegar; cheeses; fresh fruits and a special desert creation called Clair de Lune, which is a French vanilla heart of soft marzipan, with Kirsch soaked raisins on a moonshaped meringue. Three California wines will be served.

NEW YORK (AP) — The East River comes alive with the "hooting and tooting of whistles" from tugboats, Coast Guard craft and other vessels and when the Apollo 11 astronauts touch down at the Wall Street heliport today, Fireboats spray streams of water into the air, too.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty will welcome the Apollo 11 astronauts to Los Angeles on their scheduled arrival at international airport from Chicago at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

Space has been set aside for an audience of about 3,000 spectators at the airport. Each astronaut will be presented a city plaque by Yorty.

Helicopters will take the astronauts eight miles from the airport to the Century Plaza Hotel, site of the state dinner held in their honor.

Across from City Hall, students at Pace College unfurled a huge banner from third-floor windows reading: "Pace College Salutes the Men of Apollo 11."

The flags of the United States, New York State and New York City fluttered from lamp poles around City Hall Park and at the Battery. Red, white and blue Apollo 11 decals adorned the windshields of police motorcycles.

That's certainly the last thing we're prepared for," Armstrong told a news conference in Houston Tuesday, when asked about the celebrations.

The entire coast-to-coast program of frenzied tribute will consume far less than the 21½ hours the Apollo 11 lunar module spent July 20-21 on the surface of the moon.

"We're behind before we begin," said New York's commissioner of public events, John "Bud" Palmer, who arranged the tight, 3-hour, 15-minute welcome here.

A quarter of a million miles in space last month, Collins radioed: "It'd be nice to have some company. Matter of fact, be nice to have a couple of hundred million Americans up here."

There won't be quite that many on hand today. But police in New York and Chicago were prepared for crowds totalling well into the millions as the moonmen were paraded in blizzards of ticker tape up Broadway and along Chicago's glittering Michigan Avenue and State Street.

City Hall receptions were on the schedule in both cities, plus a United Nations welcome in New York and a rally of 10,000 youths in Chicago's Grant Park.

Then it's on to Los Angeles and a reception and state dinner at the Century Plaza Hotel. President Nixon is the host, and in attendance will be most of the 50 state governors, plus hundreds of diplomats, space officials and fellow astronauts.

Millions of Americans who can't be there personally will watch the welcome on television, just as they watched enthralled as Armstrong and Aldrin walked the surface of the moon. All three major networks will cover the pageantry in the three cities.

As Armstrong, Collins and Aldrin receive the transcendent homage of American throngs, they will do so with the knowledge that the lunar landing which made them heroes within seconds of being called off.

At the Houston news conference, attended by about 1,000 persons, Armstrong revealed that as the lunar module Eagle neared touchdown on the moon "we realized we had a possible abort situation to contend with."

In guiding the module away from a boulder strewn crater, Armstrong said, precious fuel was consumed until there was only "15 or 20 seconds of fuel left." Had the fuel fallen below a prescribed limit, the moon landing would have been cancelled.

Other highlights of the news conference:

Aldrin: "We found our mobility on the surface better than we had anticipated. We found that a standard looping technique, one foot in front of the other, was the best way to get around. Kangaroo fashion, two feet at a time, also worked but not as easily. . . . It was one of my proudest moments to help plant the flag and to stand back and give it a quick salute."

Armstrong: "The primary difficulty on the moon was there was too little time to do the things we wanted to do. . . . We had the problems of a 5-year-old boy in a candy store. There were just too many things to do."

And the man who orbited the moon in the command module while his companions landed, Collins: "The moon changes character as the angle of sunlight striking its surface changes. At very low sun angles, it has the harsh, forbidding characteristics which you see in a lot of photographs. On the other hand, when the sun is more closely overhead, a midday situation, the moon takes on more of a brown color, almost becomes a rosy-looking place, a fairly friendly place."

Today's orbit of acclaim for the moonmen was planned to begin with their arrival from Houston at 10 a.m. EDT at New York's Kennedy airport.

The astronauts were to be flown by helicopter to the tip of Manhattan, where the parade motorcade waited.

The lead car was assigned to the Apollo 11 trio, plus Mayor John V. Lindsay and Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay presents the Apollo 11 astronauts with the city's Medal of Honor at City Hall today.

City Council leaders present the moonmen with a Proud City Award. Mrs. Lindsay gives city medallions to the astronauts' wives and daughters and the clasp and belt buckles with the city seal to their sons.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The gala dinner for the Apollo 11 astronauts tonight will be a memorable meal.

The menu includes poached salmon in champagne with prawns, oysters, truffles and crawfish butter; filet of beef on a crouton and gosseliver pate and a truffle sauce; hearts of artichokes stuffed with green peas and diced tomatoes; carrots with butter sauce; lime-stone lettuce salad with oil and vinegar; cheeses; fresh fruits and a special desert creation called Clair de Lune, which is a French vanilla heart of soft marzipan, with Kirsch soaked raisins on a moonshaped meringue. Three California wines will be served.

NEW YORK (AP) — The East River comes alive with the "hooting and tooting of whistles" from tugboats, Coast Guard craft and other vessels and when the Apollo 11 astronauts touch down at the Wall Street heliport today, Fireboats spray streams of water into the air, too.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty will welcome the Apollo 11 astronauts to Los Angeles on their scheduled arrival at international airport from Chicago at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

Space has been set aside for an audience of about 3,000 spectators at the airport. Each astronaut will be presented a city plaque by Yorty.

Helicopters will take the astronauts eight miles from the airport to the Century Plaza Hotel, site of the state dinner held in their honor.

CHICAGO (AP) — State Street in downtown Chicago takes on a new look today in honor of the visit of the Apollo 11 astronauts.

Cars carrying Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins travel down the street where city workers have repainted the normal yellow median strip red, white and blue for the occasion.

Vehicle in the motorcade are to have special license plates prepared for the visit. The plates, yellow with red lettering, read: "City of Chicago—Apollo 11—Illinois 1969."

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay urged private business and city agencies to arrange work schedules today to allow the greatest number of employees to see the Apollo 11 astronauts during their visit to the city.

Convention Against Legal Gambling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Constitutional Convention voted Tuesday to prohibit the legislature from legalizing any form of gambling.

The provision was contained in a proposal that would continue to legalize pari-mutuel wagering on horses at Hot Springs and dogs at West Memphis.

The delegates defeated 12-63 a proposal to submit the gambling provisions to the voters apart from the main body of a proposed new constitution.

In other action Tuesday, the convention voted 42-41 to remove the constitutional status of the state Highway Commission but decided later to reconsider the vote today.

A proposal to remove the constitutional status of the state Game and Fish Commission failed in a 41-41 tie vote.

The convention's ban on legislative enactment legalizing other forms of gambling came on the heels of a report that Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs planned to introduce a bill to legalize casino gambling.

The amendment to ban such action was submitted by the Rev. Robert M. Van Hook III, a Methodist minister from Bryant. It was approved 41-36.

The amended version of the gambling proposal will be before the convention for a vote today.

The Rev. Mr. Van Hook had circulated copies of the newspaper article quoting Hurst.

William Prewett of El Dorado said the amendment gave the delegates a chance to say whether they were for or against casino gambling in Arkansas.

Richard Arnold of Texarkana spoke against the amendment, saying the provisions should be statutory law rather than in the constitution.

The proposals to strike the constitutional status of the Game and Fish and Highway commissions were submitted by John Elrod of Rison.

Elrod said both commissions had become separate branches of government that weren't responsive to the people.

He accused the Highway Commission of building a "Taj Mahal" for a state headquarters building south of Little Rock.

Elrod said that even "deputy, deputy clerks" enjoyed high offices and he estimated that 50 per cent of the employees in the high rise structure did no work.

"We're giving more status to the highways and birds and the bees of the state than education," he said.

When opponents said the Highway Commission was doing a good job, Elrod said that "if you were getting $9 in federal funds for every $1 you owned you could do a good job, too."

Elrod said the Highway Commission had made bad studies that "always show that the roads need to be built where the highway commissioners live."

Howard Alderson of Stuttgart moved for reconsideration of the vote and his motion was adopted 41-37.

Elrod said the Game and Fish Commission had agreed to build a lake in Washington County because residents had showed how many hunting and fishing licenses had been sold there. He said the commission was responsive to money.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $66,746 grant to the Economic Community Agency of Pulaski County, Ark., was approved Tuesday by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The money will be used for six months program administration, program planning, family planning, neighborhood centers, community organization, school-age education, consumer action in financial counseling, special summer programs, recreation and senior opportunities and services.

Several other federal grants for Arkansas were also approved Tuesday.

The Labor Department approved a $57,780 grant to Forrest City for the training of 20 automobile body repairmen for 36 weeks.

The Economic Development Administration approved a $537,000 grant to Green Forest to help stimulate industrial growth and create 140 new jobs in Carroll County.

State College of Arkansas at Conway will receive $1,600 and Arkansas State University at Jonesboro $500 under the omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The American Bar Association has adopted a new code of ethics for lawyers and proposed a coast-to-coast overhaul of the way automobile accident claims are settled in court.

The ethics code, the first major change in the canons in 80 years, bars contingent fees in criminal cases, restricts what lawyers can say to the press about pending cases and encourages participating in legal aid programs for the poor.

The auto accident plan, which depends on state legislatures for implementation, would cut down delays in settlement by setting up uniform court systems and by making it easier for juries to reach verdicts.

Both actions were taken Tuesday by the ABA's House of Delegates, a 297-member policy-making body.

The same group rejected a committee proposal that it endorse a bill by Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., to establish a new commission for ousting unfit federal judges.

The committee, headed by Theodore Voorhees, a Washington, D.C., lawyer, was itself divided, though a majority backed the Tydings bill in principle. Lawyers B.B. Gullett, of Nashville, Tenn., and Earl Q. Gray, of Ardmore, Okla., led a successful floor fight to put off further consideration until next February, when the ABA meets again.

At present, a judge can be removed only through impeachment.

The ethics code was put together over the last five years by a committee headed by Edward L. Wright, a Little Rock, Ark., lawyer who will become president of the ABA next summer.

If state and local bar associations go along, lawyers will be forbidden to charge clients accused of crime a fee that depends on the way the case turns out. Such a charge is called a contingent fee.

Additionally, the code says contingent fees would be "rarely justified" in divorce, child support and other domestic relations cases.

British Pgn. Trade Deficit Jumps Sharply

LONDON (AP) — Britain's foreign trade deficit jumped $5.8 million in July to $88.8 million, the Board of Trade announced today.

Foreign exchange dealers had predicted that a deficit of more than $72 million dollars would increase selling pressure on the pound sterling, which was already near its official floor because of reaction to the devaluation of the French franc.

The pound in London dropped soon after the trade figures were announced, but then recovered slightly. It was selling around $2.3829 up from Tuesday's close of $2.3820.

Dealers said business was far from hectic. The initial reaction appeared to be disappointment at the trade figures but some relief that they were not worse.

Government securities dropped after the announcement. So did leading industrial stocks on the London Stock Exchange.

Trade figures are an especially important influence on the British pound because this island nation lives on foreign trade. When it buys more abroad than it sells to foreign customers, as it did last month, the pound weakens.

The Board of Trade figures this time, however, were blurred by an additional factor and it was unclear immediately what effect this would have on the pound.

In a rapid followup to Apollo 11, three more landings on the moon are set for within the next year: Apollo 12, this November, commanded by Charles Conrad Jr., landing on the Ocean of Storms. Apollo 13, next March, commanded by James A. Lovell Jr., landing on the flat highlands north of the Sea of Clouds. Apollo 14, next July, commanded by Alan B. Shepard, landing near crater Bode in the Seething Bay. The flight commanders, all Navy officers, are space flight veterans. Conrad and Lovell flew Gemini missions and Lovell made the first flight around the moon with Apollo 8 last December. Shepard made the first manned test of the one-man Mercury capsule, a 15-minute sub-orbital flight on May 5, 1961.

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence has urged that America's 24 million handguns be confiscated by the authorities as a step toward a safer society.

Lee Wulff is totally against the proposition.

"I resent it as an honorable man," he says. "I believe gun control measures such as these carry a guilt by association implication. And I don't think most owners of guns are guilty of anything."

Actually, handguns are not considered hunting weapons, but target and self-defense arms. The Violence Commission thus does not believe confiscation will interfere with normal outdoor sports. But Wulff objects anyway.

Lee Wulff is not alone in this thinking. But his opinion carries greater weight than most in outdoor circles. He is one of the nation's leading sportsmen and for years has been among its most distinguished conservation voices.

Wulff is a full time outdoorsman, which is to say he takes fish and game for profit as well as pleasure. He films his recreation ventures for television and movie companies (currently he's one of the producers of ABC-TV's American Sportsman). He's also a woody writer and lecturer.

He's been doing same for most of his life (he's 64) because he's convinced killing game is a noble pursuit. And he's equally convinced that the ownership and use of firearms for this purpose is noble, too.

Give up guns? Scoffs he: "Why the hell should I? Or why should I have to ask the local police chief if it's okay for me to buy another? I've done nothing wrong with them. Really, if they pass any of these national gun measures, I feel it's just like saying I'm guilty until proven innocent."

All things considered, Lee Wulff's opinion on antigun legislation is a somewhat quiet one. Unlike many of his sports peers, he is not shouting his defiance as a defense against a Communist plot, government tyranny or some such other nonsense that comes out sounding psychopatriotic.

Wulff prefers a more dignified defense:

"I'm not against all gun control. I'm not against local laws requiring a time lapse (usually 24 to 48 hours) between gun purchases and gun possession. I'm not against further measures to keep guns out of the hands of maniacs. What I am against is passing national control laws that won't work. Sure, I know that there are evils inherent to private gun ownership—but the evils of unworkable gun laws, I think, are much greater."

The evils of such controls, as Wulff explains them, are well known by repetition. He feels, for example, national controls will fail to keep firearms from criminals—who seldom get them legally anyway.

But one evil not so well known is this:

"The thing that worries me is that these national gun laws seem to be just another step in a direction I've worried about for years. I think they indicate a going-away from the concept of sports for everyone."

"I mean, what we seem to be doing is moving towards what they have in Europe. For decades over there, only a limited number of people, in most countries, have been privileged to own guns and participate in sport."

"And I think it could happen in the United States, too. It is conceivable that if we keep going the way we are, we'll wind up sometime in the future with a class society as far as outdoor sports goes—where only a few enjoy them."

This pessimistic comment is not just a passing notion with Wulff. It is more like a prediction. He says sportsmen have been fighting similar battles with modernity for years, losing almost all of them.

And so the gun fight, he thinks, will be lost, also.

Public apathy, Wulff believes, stemming from a continually growing urbanized population, will one day permit gun confiscation as U.S.

law. And then he sees real trouble.

"I just don't think everybody will give up their guns peacefully. I think serious incidents would follow national gun controls. Some zealot hotheads would hold their guns, others would be caught trying to buy them illegally. And it stands to reason that there would be confrontations, perhaps a lot of them, with real fights erupting all over."

This ugly possibility, Wulff says, would be utterly tragic. And not the least because, he adds, it would be unnecessary.

"There is a solution other than more gun laws," he says. "All we have to do is enforce the laws we already have. The laws right now say that criminals shouldn't have guns. All right. Let's enforce that. In other words, let's start getting mad at the crooks instead of the sportsmen."
